BOND

(awed)

Moneypenny, you get more beautiful every day!

MONEYPENNY'S VOICE

I'm over here.

CAMERA PANS TO MONEYPENNY closing filing cabinet.

MONEYPENNY eyes him knowingly.

MONEYPENNY

BOND

(a bit lamely)

What can I say? Except that she's as attractive and charming as - as -

MONEYPENNY

(sweetly)

As I used to be? You're really doing great.

BOND

Moneypenny, you know there's never been or will be anyone but you.

MONEYPENNY

So you've told me.

(indicating bouquet)

Are those for M?

BOND grins, starts to hand her bouquet, stops, divides it, gives half to MONEYPENNY and offers the other half to SMALLBONE who, somewhat startled, hesitates about accepting it.

MONEYPENNY

Take it, dear. It's all you'll ever get from him.

SMALLBONE

(rising, taking flowers)

Thank you, Commander Bond.

BOND

How'd you know me?

SMALLBONE

Miss Moneypenny described you.

MONEYPENNY

(tongue in cheek)

In nauseating detail.

BOND

I have to hear this.

(to Smallbone)

What did she say about me?

M'S VOICE

(over intercom)

Stop fishing for compliments,
Double-O-Seven, and get in here.

MONEYPENNY

I said to leave the intercom open if she wanted to get rid of you.

BOND belatedly tosses hat on rack peg and goes into M's office.
MONEYPENNY looks after him and sighs. Behind her SMALLBONE is sighing a bit on her own.

138 M'S OFFICE - M MINISTER FANNING

138 as BOND enters. Fanning is a scholarly looking slightly pudgy man in his late thirties. SOTHEBY CATALOGUE and the FABERGE EGG lie on M's desk.

M

Good morning, Double-O-Seven. I think you know Jim Fanning, our art expert --

BOND and FANNING nod and shake hands. BOND nods to Minister. M hands BOND egg.

M

Do you know what this is?

BOND

Looks like a Faberge egg sir. One of the jewelled eggs made as an Easter gift for the Russian Royal family by Carl Faberge. Priceless things, very rare.

M

Top marks, Double-O-Seven.

BOND

(modestly)

Thank you, sir.

M

(crushingly)

Except it's a fake.

(he points to the

the Sotheby's catalogue)

There's the real thing. Being sold at Sotheby's this afternoon.

FANNING

I've been monitoring their sales. This is the fourth egg to appear at auction this year. It's from none of the usual sources. Anonymous seller, numbered Swiss bank account. I'd say it's a Russian.

(indicating egg)

Now this turns up, a near perfect forgery.

MINISTER

(to Fanning)

I think Commander Bond should accompany you to the sale this afternoon.

138 Continued

138

FANNING

My pleasure. I could use an extra pair of eyes.

(to Bond)

We'll try to spot the seller.
They usually come out of curiosity, sometimes to bid the price up.

M

Thank you, Fanning.

FANNING exits.

MINISTER

If it's the Russians it could be an effort to raise currency for covert operations abroad or for payoffs. Either way we'd better find out what they're up to.

M picks up a file, hands it to BOND.

M

Eyes only, Double-O-Seven.

142 MOSCOW - INSIDE WAR ROOM 142

ELEVEN TOP MILITARY AND INTELLIGENCE BIGWIGS are seated around a semi-circular table positioned on a tiled circle with the hammer and sickle emblem inlaid at the centre. In B.G. on a slightly lower level is a map of the world filling the entire wall. Rightangled to it on one wall is a panel depicting a globe with a hammer and sickle imprinted on it enclosed by beribboned sheaves of wheat and a Russian star above it. Directly across from it on the other wall is an enormous portrait of Lenin. GENERAL GOGOL sits at right end of the table. GENERAL ORLOV at the left. ORLOV is an impressive man in his early forties made confident by years of command. Both he and GOGOL, whom we know, wear uniforms. So do one or two of the others. Seated near GOGOL, taking notes, is his secretary; RUBELVITCH, 25. She is cool, efficient and athletic. A red phone by her side.

CHAIRMAN

(elderly soft voice)

The next subject on the agenda is the continuing mutual disarmament talks with NATO. I assume you have all read General Gogol's report. It seems very thorough.

He nods to GOGOL. CAMERA MOVES IN ON HIM.

GOGOL

Thank you, Comrade Chairman. I believe I expressed the opinion of those present that adoption of NATO proposals would not compromise our defensive position -

ORLOV'S VOICE

Comrade Chairman --

CAMERA PANS TO HIM. CHAIRMAN near him.

CHAIRMAN

(recognising him)

General Orlov.

ORLOV

(bluntly)

General Gogol is presumptuous. He speaks for himself -- and others who cling to timid, outdated, unrealistic policies. Must I remind you the committee of our overwhelming superiority over NATO forces before we give it away?

142 Continued 142

He rises, picks up small remote control unit, activates it.

143 FULL SHOT - GROUP 143

Lights dim, then the circular floor section with the semi-circular table on it revolves 90 degrees to face wall to the right. ORLOV walks toward it, presses lever on r.c.u. A section of the wall slides up revealing AN ELECTRONIC TRANSPARENCY MAP OF WESTERN EUROPE, EAST GERMANY, CTHER WARSAW PACT COUNTRIES. As he speaks lights go on to indicate positions of forces he mentions.

ORLOV

In East Germany, under my direct command, I have 31 divisions including 11 rank divisions and another five in Czechoslovakia.

144 CLOSER ANGLE - ORLOV AT MAP 144

His voice becomes staccato.

ORLOV

In support on the Russian Western border are 60 divisions, including 22 tanks. In all, a 10 to 1 advantage. American and West German forces at most can field only ten armoured divisions. The British maintain only a token force.

145 TRANSPARENCY MAP 145

ORLOV'S VOICE

We have played out a variety of attack strategies on the new Kutuzov computer and find that a lightning thrust by 10 armoured divisions from the north westward and by five more through Czechoslovakia.

Attack proceeds, red lines of thrust appearing along several fronts, then spreading into a network branching into finer and finer lines like the arterial system in a living body.

ORLOV'S VOICE

-- leads to total victory in five days against any possible defence scenario.

The branches join up and intertwine until all West Germany is covered by red lights up to the Rhine.

146 GROUP - FEATURING GOGOL

146

Standing up.

GOGOL

This is absolute madness. We know where it will end.

CAMERA PANS HIM TOWARD ORLOV who takes a few steps to meet him with map behind them.

GOGOL

NATO will counterattack with nuclear weapons.

CAMERA CLOSER ON HIM AND ORLOV as they face each other.

ORLOV

Never! The West is decadent and divided. It has no stomach to risk our atomic reprisals. All through Europe daily demonstrations demand their unilateral nuclear disarmament.

GOGOL

I see no reason to risk war to satisfy your personal paranoia and thirst for conquest. We must turn our energies to pressing domestic problems.

The two men remain defiantly vis-a-vis for a moment.

147 NEW ANGLE - CHAIRMAN

147

GOGOL and ORLOV beyond him. He stands up.

CHAIRMAN

Comrades!! Sit down, both of you!

GOGOL turns away from ORLOV who remains as he was for another moment. Then he operates remote control unit. CAMERA PANS TO MAP as lights all flash off. Section of wall descends before it. Room lights go up.

148 SEMI-CIRCULAR TABLE

148

Returning to original position. GOGOL, then ORLOV, reseat themselves.

CHAIRMAN

World socialism will be achieved peaceably. Our military role is strictly defensive. Is that clear,
General Orlov?

148 Continued

148

ORLOV

(icily)

Yes, Comrade Chairman.

149 CLOSE ANGLE on RUBELVITCH as red phone beside her flashes. She answers and makes a note which she takes to ORLOV. In the B.G. the meeting continues.

149

CHAIRMAN

Comrade Gogol, would you continue.

GOGOL

Thank you Comrade chairman. Now turning to the specifics of my report. You will note some areas of concern about parity in the development of anti-missile defences.

CLOSE ON ORLOV and RUBELVITCH as ORLOV glances at note.

ORLOV

Tell him I will be there as quickly as possible.

RUBELVITCH returns to the phone.

150 KREMLIN EXTERIOR DAY

150

ORLOV crosses the Kremlin courtyard through a mixture of soldiers, office workers and tourists.

151 CLOSER ANGLE - ORLOV

151

TWO GUARDS AT DOOR salute as ORLOV enters impressive doorway.

MAGDA goes into her room and closes the door. GOBINDA and TRIBESMEN accompany BOND to the door of his room, just beyond Magda's. He goes in. GOBINDA locks door. One of the tribesmen sits down cross-legged opposite it, lays his rifle across his knees. GOBINDA and other tribesmen move out of scene.

OCTOPUSSY

I wondered when you would arrive.

BOND

(impressed by her beauty)

So you are the mysterious Octopussy.

OCTOPUSSY

And you are the famous Double-O-Seven, licensed to kill.

(coolly)

Am I to be your target for tonight?

BOND

Possibly. But I'd much rather hear about jewellery smuggling, and why one of our men was killed in East Berlin.

OCTOPUSSY

(sharply)

I know nothing about that!

(indicating door to sitting room)

Can I offer you a drink?

He follows her into sitting room.

She starts to mix drinks.

BOND

You seem to know a lot about me.

OCTOPUSSY

This is not the first time our paths have crossed. Do you remember Major Dexter Smythe?

BOND

Yes, I'm familiar with that case.

OCTOPUSSY

You were sent out to arrest him, weren't you?

BOND

After a brilliant military career Smythe was detached to our secret service to recover a cache of Chinese gold they seized in North Korea. He and his native guide disappeared and the gold was never found.

OCTOPUSSY

And twenty years later you were sent after him.

BOND

The guide's body had been found with a bullet from Smythe's service revolver still in his skull. I tracked him to Ceylon, told him the facts and gave him twenty-four hours to get his affairs in order before taking him back.

OCTOPUSSY

He committed suicide rather than face the disgrace of a court martial.

OCTOPUSSY

No. To thank you for giving him an honorable alternative.

Someone approaches from the courtyard. OCTOPUSSY indicates BOND should sit in a high backed chair facing away from the door and hidden from view. GWENDOLINE enters. He does, putting his hand inside his jacket near shoulder holster.

GWENDOLINE

BOND

(faintly)

I knew you were a swinger --

He collapses. She cradles his head and kisses him.

1050 INT. M'S OFFICE M AND MINISTER 1050
Listening to GOGOL in mufti.

GOGOL

My government categorically denies the incident ever occurred. However, we request that Commander Bond return one of our most historic national treasures - the Romanov Star -

MINISTER

In the interests of Anglo-Soviet relations I'm sure that can be arranged. Where is Commander
Bond?

M

Unfortunately, because of his injuries he still is not fit enough to travel -

1051 OCTOPUSSY'BARGE CAMERA CLOSE

1051

On the ROMANOV STAR nestled in Octopussy's cleavage it hangs from a necklace around her throat. ANGLE WIDENS. She is kissing BOND who is lying on a luxurious large divan in a curtained canopy in the stern. He has a plaster cast on his right arm, a sling on his left, a bandage on his hand, and one leg up in traction.

OCTOPUSSY

(murmuring)

What a pity you're in such a weakened condition -

BOND

(grinning)

No problem -

Startlingly the cast on his arm falls apart, he takes off the sling, puts his arms around her, draws her down to him.

OCTOPUSSY'S VOICE
